DRIVE HAS COST HUNS THOUSANDS

BRITISH EFFORTS HAVE COST GERMAN ARMY OVER 400,000 MEN IN LESS THAN ONE WEEK OF FIGHTING.

TO CONTINUE FIGHTING

Reports Say That Troops Are Being Massed in the Region of Noyon.

—Allied Defense Stronger.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 27.—An official dispatch from a source in the British War Office today announced that the papers of Germany are now preparing the people of that country for reports of combined French-British advance backed by immense numbers of reserves.

This might be taken to mean the German government realizes their present drive has failed and the reaction must come.

Germany's supreme effort to break the Allied front in the west apparently is no nearer accomplishment than the day the drive started, and she is estimated to have lost 400,000 troops in less than a week's fighting. She has not given up, however. Advances from the front indicate her forces are massing for a drive in the region of Noyon and Reims in an effort to break through there as a preliminary rolling up process either to the north or south. As against the chance of her accomplishing this purpose may be counted a fact of forewarning for the Allies. There seems no doubt as to where the heavy stroke will fall and the opportunity is offered of disposing of the Allied force to meet it, an opportunity lacking in the earlier stages of the drive. The entire line is now running, with British and American troops standing together, presents an unbroken front.

Slow Down.

There has been slowing down on German pressure north of the Somme, where the British are holding doggedly. In the Noyon region and along the Oise the French have likewise compelled the Germans to slow down by their ceaseless and heavy losses, to relax their pressure. Meanwhile it is clear the Germans are being compelled to admit their success in driving back the British line for a great distance on so wide a front is by no means a decisive one. No one can foresee what will result from it. Ludendorff declared in alluding to it.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Having regained nearly all the devastated Somme region the German army and themselves grow stronger. The German line is now held by the Somme and north of the Somme the enemy has been checked and he has been unable to push west of Reims and Noyon. The Germans were unable to break through the British line from the Somme river southwest through Albert to the Somme. The frontier is now east of the old Somme battlefield. The German line runs north and west of the Somme river, just north of Arras, eighteen miles northeast of Amiens.

South of Somme.
South of the Somme the Germans have advanced west of the old front line and the Allied offensive of 1916, but have not yet gained it west of Reims. The most bitter fighting occurred south of the Somme and still continues. The German line has been checked west of the Somme and Noyon sectors. The French hold on the southern bank of the Somme and are staid against German attempts.

American Troops.
On this front Field Marshal Haig reports American troops now doing the fighting and British. The identity and size of the American unit was not disclosed but in all probability they form part of the 1st and 2nd divisions. From Noyon eastward to south of La Fere the French hold strong positions along the Oise.

Counter Attacks.
It is reported that the French and American troops carried out strong counter attacks south of La Fere against the German line. The German line was repulsed, but on all probability the counter attacks have made no headway. The German line is now held by the Somme and north of the Somme the enemy has been checked and he has been unable to push west of Reims and Noyon. The Germans were unable to break through the British line from the Somme river southwest through Albert to the Somme. The frontier is now east of the old Somme battlefield. The German line runs north and west of the Somme river, just north of Arras, eighteen miles northeast of Amiens.

Driven Back.
American gunners northwest of Toul have forced the Germans to abandon the town of Hicourt, opposite the American line. This town was heavily shelled and heavily shelled. The German line is now held by the Somme and north of the Somme the enemy has been checked and he has been unable to push west of Reims and Noyon. The Germans were unable to break through the British line from the Somme river southwest through Albert to the Somme. The frontier is now east of the old Somme battlefield. The German line runs north and west of the Somme river, just north of Arras, eighteen miles northeast of Amiens.

Heavy Attacks.
London, March 27.—A heavy attack was made early in the night against the new British line south of the Somme. It was repulsed after severe fighting. The war office announced that the German line was repulsed, but on all probability the counter attacks have made no headway. The German line is now held by the Somme and north of the Somme the enemy has been checked and he has been unable to push west of Reims and Noyon. Wilson Is Charged Of Not Cooperating In Conduct of War

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 27.—Failure of government agency to co-operate in the prosecution of the war was laid to President Wilson by Senator Jones of Washington in a speech in the senate today in which he charged the president with showing no disposition to seek the advice of congress on problems confronting the nation.

"The President ought to co-ordinate himself and the sooner he does it the sooner will government agencies be most affected," said Senator Jones. "I do not say this in a captious spirit. It is the statement of a fact known to all here and regretted by all."

In directing his attention to profit taking, Senator Jones declared it was everywhere and the nation's need is the common prey.

Senator Jones took President Wilson to task for permitting the continued use of grain and food stuff in the manufacture of wine and beer.

Beuvraignes, north of Lasigny in front of the southern part of Noyon and along the west bank of the Oise. During the night the French repulsed strong reconnoitering parties which attacked our position north west of Noyon. On the remainder of the front intermittent bombardments occurred.

Americans Active.
Paris, March 27.—A French military commentator writing in reference to the situation today, says concerning the night of the 26th, various points on the front our allies are bringing to the British their valiant support.

German Report.
Amsterdam, March 27.—The part reported to have been played by American troops in the attempted relief of the British flank near La Fere is referred to briefly by the German war correspondents, but so far no mention has been made of the presence of Americans among prisoners. The Dages Zeitung says: "The thought that the Americans got a severe lesson is especially gratifying to us."

Another correspondent said: "The undoubted bravery of the Americans proved no match for the Furor Teutonum."

Forsberg's Report.
Washington, March 27.—General Forsberg cabled the war department early today he had nothing to report from the American troops concerned in the progress of battle on the western front.

English Statement.
Amiens, March 27.—The Germans last night continued their furious onslaught southwest of Amiens against the Allied defenses in the region of Reims and Noyon, having succeeded in cutting through the British line further north where such desperate resistance was offered. Hard fighting occurred about the town of Albert. Large numbers of German soldiers were killed and the place but at last the British were holding doggedly to this possible gateway to Amiens.

The official British statement followed. Yesterday it had been established that more than 70 German divisions were engaged in the battle. The estimate of present strength of the German army is 2,000,000 men, a loss of 15 per cent would mean casualties in excess of 400,000 in less than a week of fighting.

Clemenceau Satisfied.
Paris, March 27.—In conversation with deputies who surrounded him in the lobby before the chamber assembly this morning, Premier Clemenceau declared that the situation before was more justified than now. The force of the German attack seemed to have diminished. Yesterday's onslaught was fiercer than the same yesterday as those which preceded it. The Franco-British high command is taking advantage of the respite to prepare for the battle the allies will deliver at their own choice on the favorable ground.

Deputies express the opinion if the Germans can be held for 48 hours more their offensive will prove to have been a failure.

Not a Hint of Success.

The Germans have now reclaimed virtually all the territory they held at the close of the battle of the Somme in 1916. At some places they have not retaken all the old ground, but at other points they have overstepped the old line.

Kaiser and General Von Ludendorff Have Fight Before Battle

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, March 27.—Emperor William and General Von Ludendorff had a violent quarrel before the great attack on the western front according to a prominent Swiss who has just returned from Germany, as told him by a correspondent of the Times. He is quoted as saying:

"These were not inconsiderable talk in Berlin before the present offensive concerning extremely violent scenes between German leaders at general headquarters. General Ludendorff was most affected," said the correspondent. "I do not say this in a captious spirit. It is the statement of a fact known to all here and regretted by all."

In directing his attention to profit taking, Senator Jones declared it was everywhere and the nation's need is the common prey.

U. S. NAVY IS READY FOR ANY MOVEMENTS OF CENTRAL POWERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 27.—The fleet is ready for a fight or a frolic. Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans to President Theodore Roosevelt at the time the Atlantic fleet went around the world.

"The navy is cleared for action. It will accept any task Germany may present to it," Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels today.

Between the time when the above sentiments were uttered much has happened. The navy is now a more powerful force than when the fleet went around the world. The individual in question is Admiral William S. Benson. His official title is chief of naval operations. He is the directing head of the service. All of his activities pivot around his office. The post of chief of operations was created by Secretary Daniels on March 1, 1915. It corresponds to the post of chief of the army general staff. Admiral Benson, then in Philadelphia, was summoned to take the job. He has been in the post ever since. He has brought to his task experience gained in sea service in every quarter of the globe. He is the chief of the biggest land stations in the service. Here are a few of his manifold duties:

Director of the naval war college. Director of naval intelligence. Director of the office of gunnery exercises and engineering performance.

Director of the naval communication service. Director of the naval aeronautics service and all other branches of the navy concerned directly in its military efficiency.

A fairly good job for a man 62 years of age who has more than a quarter of a century of actual sea service behind him. All of the strategic and tactical matters of the service are his to handle. He issues all orders and is the military advisor of the secretary.

Admiral Benson was a member of the Greeley relief expedition. Later he was inspector of national guard units in recognition of the good work of his troops on the western front. In a telegram to the crown prince the emperor expressed his appreciation of the work of the army troops under your command.

Urges British to Prevent Huns from Obtaining Object

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 27.—Field Marshal Haig has issued the following special order of the day, dated March 23:

"To all ranks of the British army in France and Flanders: We are again at a crisis in the war. The enemy is making a desperate effort to break through our lines and is aiming at the destruction of the British army. We have already inflicted on the German army in the course of the last few days a very heavy loss. The French are sending troops as quickly as possible to our support.

I feel that every one in the army, fully realizing how much depends on the exertion and steadfastness of each of us, will do his utmost to prevent the enemy from attaining his object."

Will Not Grant AN INCREASE IN RATES

Madison, Wis., March 27.—The Wisconsin insurance department will resist any and every attempt of the fire insurance companies of this state to put into force their proposed ten per cent increase in rates. The application of all of the fire insurance companies in the state were recently presented to Insurance Commissioner M. J. Cleary for consideration. He denied the applications.

The insurance press of the country contains an announcement that it is a plan of the insurance companies to put these proposed rate increases into effect every state. The rate will not be put into effect simultaneously in all of the states. There is an indication that an attempt will be made to increase rates in Wisconsin.

"That increase will never be allowed in Wisconsin except by order of the courts," said Insurance Commissioner M. J. Cleary today when shown the dispatch indicating that the companies intend to put rate increase into effect at once.

Von Ludendorff is Sure That Victory Is Won By Germans

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Amsterdam, March 27.—A great battle has been fought and victory won, but none can foresee what will result from it, says General Von Ludendorff, chief aide to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, in an interview with a correspondent today in front of the German headquarters at Berlin.

The General praised the British for their tenacious resistance and continued:

"The British believed they could rely on the strength of machinery. The employment of tanks and great numbers of machine guns is typical of their method of warfare. The German added, had only one night of normal rest during the five or six days of battle."

"In a battle like this the infantrymen must risk their lives not only once, but continuously from trench to trench."

The Voiles Zeitung of Cologne says according to Von Ludendorff, the battle area, remarking: "How glad we should be our country has been spared such a thing. The fighting beyond our frontier? Because before the war we always urged the need of armaments. What man kind changes these things also will change, but first mankind must begin to change."

ODessa IS RETAKEN BY UKRAINIANS

IMPORTANT SEAPORT IN SOUTHERN RUSSIA IS TAKEN FROM THE HANDS OF GERMAN INVADERS.

OPPOSE PEACE TREATY

Rada Adopts Resolution Refusing to Indorse Terms and Decide to Use Armed Resistance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Mar. 27.—Odessa was recaptured by the Soviet and Ukrainian troops after a bloody battle in which naval forces took part, according to Moscow dispatch from semi-official Russian news agency.

The German war office on March 13 announced that Odessa had been captured by German troops. Semi-official announcement was then made that Germany had obtained a direct route by way of Russia to Persia and Afghanistan.

Odessa is the most important seaport of southern Russia and the fourth city of Russia in size. Must Withstand Troops.

The Bolsheviks and Ukrainians which fled from Kiev to Kharkov before the Germans, is now at Mariupol where it has adopted a resolution refusing to endorse the peace treaty between Germany and the Ukrainians unless the central powers withdraw all troops from Ukraine. The rada decided to oppose the central powers by means of armed force, strikes and boycotts.

Fight Hun Troops.
All southern Ukrainian cities have been recaptured from Austria by Red Guards and armed citizens. The recapture of Kerson Nikolayev was reported in press dispatches yesterday from Petrograd. The population of Kerson organized and equipped a fighting force of Red Guards. Five hundred Ukrainians north of Kiev are organized to resist German food requisition. They are reported to have killed eighty German soldiers.

According to an unconfirmed report the Ukrainians for Bourgeois rada, which was responsible for the peace treaty with Russia and is officially requested Germany to stop the advance of her troops in Ukraine as it tended to shake the confidence of the population in the government. Germany is said to have replied she was invited to restore order and could not leave until this was accomplished. Colonel Mounier, head of the Ukrainian command of the Bolshevik troops in Ukraine and is now in Moscow. He has been succeeded by an officer named Kozlov.

The German force advancing in the Ukraine are moving from both the northwest and southwest against Kharkov. A transportation center in the Ukraine, which would lead to the south of Russia from the north. The Austrians have occupied Dnipro, about 150 miles southwest of Kharkov and Kiev. Kozlov is an equal distance northwest of that city.

Dispute Has Arisen.
London, March 27.—A serious dispute has arisen over the Ukrainian peace treaty. The German demands that she be given eighty-five per cent of the Ukrainian wheat according to a telegram from Petrograd. The German demands that she be given a large percentage of other foodstuffs much more than the present rate. The Ukrainian rada there are dissensions in the Ukrainian cabinet which is divided for and against the German demands.

Guards Are Fighting.
Washington, March 27.—Swedish press reports transmitted today to the state department by American agents from Stockholm say that the Red Guards (Finnish) are holding their own in fighting with the Red Guards (Bolshevik).

ENGLAND AND FRANCE MAKE DECLARATIONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, March 27.—The engagement entered into by Imperial Russian government are still existent and its obligations are still binding on the state which now represent or shall in future represent the British and French government declared in a joint declaration made public here today. The declaration is a direct answer to the Russian government when it made its engagement incontestable represented Russia and definitely bound her.

The statement that Leon Trotsky had approached the entente with a new proposal manifesting a desire to reorganize a military resistance to Germany with support of the French and British appears today in the Petit Parisien.

The official status of M. Trotsky was not made clear. He resigned as foreign minister early in this month, and was removed from office. He is now in Moscow. He is said to be in control of the situation at Moscow as head of the revolutionary military committee.

DELANVAN

Delavan, March 25.—As Frank Russell and Arnold Duggan and Everett McManus were riding on Sunday afternoon they met with a dangerous accident which might have proved fatal. The car, which was being driven by Russell, was at the wheel and the machine skidded from right to left of the road and finally overturned. Three of the boys were soon able to extricate themselves by crawling through the demolished toy and side curtains, which luckily had been up and by raising the car the fourth one was able to escape. The boys were unharmed save for a few slight bruises, which was really a wonder. The broken top and windshield were the greatest loss to the car.

Word was received here late today of the death at Denver, Colo., of one of Delavan's prominent citizens, Win. Stewart. He and Mrs. Stewart had spent the winter in California and were on their return when Mr. Stewart contracted the fatal illness of pneumonia.

A letter was received from Jesse Bertlett, one of the Delavan privateers, who arrived in France with the company of which the late Private George Rutledge was a member. The letter stated that the body of Rutledge had been taken to France for burial and that he (Bertlett) was to be one of the pall bearers.

RED CROSS TO SERVE MEN IN TRENCHES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Washington, March 27.—Hot drink carts carrying the gospel of steaming coffee and sandwiches will soon be perambulating along the American lines.

The Red Cross announced today extension to the American forces of its field canteen service by which 1,000,000 French soldiers during the past six months have been supplied with a cheering cup "between acts" in the trenches.

Fifteen rolling canteens, laden with rationing thermos bottles, will jog through the American sector daily. "The work is hazardous in the extreme," the Red Cross says, "as the workers are often compelled to work under heavy shell-fire."

LIEUT. RAU TELLS OF

TRIP ACROSS ATLANTIC

Janesville Boy, Member of 125th Inf., Writes From Describing Trip to France.

Mrs. Fred Rau Jr. of this city has received a letter from Lieut. Rau of the 125th Inf., from France, where he is now serving. The letter is the first one to be received in this city from a local boy who left this city last summer with Co. M.

In his letter he states that his regiment left this country on February 18th, and that in the contingent that left there were 35,000 men. Mr. Rau was on board the Corington, a ship which was captured by the Germans. He was formerly called the "Lafayette" and was formerly called the "Lafayette".

He also depicts very clearly in his letter the habits of the French people and gives a vivid description of the country which the Janesville boys are located.

In telling of his trip across he states that on Feb. 25th, ten days after they left the United States, the ship was lined up in a diamond shape and that a submarine came up in the center of them. All the boats immediately started to fire and the submarine disappeared and it is not known whether they were only forty-eight hours from shore they received word that fourteen submarines lay in wait for them a short distance in advance. The submarine changed course and were met by eleven battleships and five airplanes and conveyed safely to land.

Mr. Rau states that they were at sea for fourteen days and that the trip was most enjoyable. His letter, which is dated March 7th, states that the regiment is located about sixty miles from the front line trenches, but he expects that they would move the next day to a point within twenty miles of the front.

Lieut. Rau is of the opinion that there is not enough Americans over there to start a drive of their own on the Germans, but as the letter was written before the great drive of the present time, or if not in the battle, they are very near the front line trenches and ready to relieve the French.

The San Souci society met last Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Bernice Gray, 416 Fifth avenue. The afternoon was spent in dancing. Luncheon was served at five o'clock.

Notice L. A. F. O. E.: There will be no meeting Thursday, March 28th. Gertrude McKeligue, recorder.

UNUSUAL EVENT IN COURT PROCEEDINGS

Divorces Granted to Plaintiffs, Who in Both Cases Are Men—Cheese Factory Case Testimony Completed.

Judge Grimm granted two divorces to Beloit couples in court yesterday afternoon. In both cases the plaintiffs were men, a rather unusual circumstance. C. W. Holl, fifty years of age, was decreed a separation from Maria Holl, aged fifty-seven, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. In the complaint Holl testified that she was constantly scolding and abusing him and that she refused to associate with him. They have been married less than two years and other complaints made by Holl tended to prove to the judge that their married life did not amount to much.

Holl was called upon to appear in court and he was entitled to a divorce. C. L. Haugen appeared for the plaintiff, while there was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

Cecil C. Drake through his attorney, R. A. Edgar, was granted an annulment of marriage from Florence E. Drake on the grounds that she had been married previously and had never secured a divorce. Her address at the present time is unknown, while Drake still resides in Beloit.

Testimony in the case of the Broadhead Cheese & Cold Storage company vs. E. S. Parnley of Footville, was completed late yesterday afternoon, but Judge Grimm withheld his decision until he could give the matter more consideration. The case is a dispute over some money amounting to $1,370.63, which the plaintiff says the defendant owes him, while Parnley claims that that amount of money coming from the company. Parnley, while manufacturing cheese at Footville, made a number of shipments to the Broadhead company and on several occasions he has been allowed only half the price of first class brick cheese, because the company considered it not up to standard. He admitted sending two or three consignments of a poor grade of cheese but said all of his other shipments were of high quality. He frequently drew on the company for money in the amount of $100.00 and finally the amount of his overdraws reached the thirteen hundred dollar mark. Parnley said that several times he was given a piece of property in payment of the money which he knew was worth thirty cents. E. H. Ryan represented the defendant while Rudolph Leger of Broadhead appeared for the plaintiff.

Arrangements for the sending of the eleven men to Camp Grant, Friday morning, have been practically completed. They have been ordered to report at the office of the local board tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock to turn in their papers. Those who live in the city will be allowed to return to their homes tomorrow night, but those living in other cities will be required to remain in Janesville until the time of their entrainment at ten-thirty-five Friday morning.

When the men gather tomorrow afternoon for instructions and to be appointed to take charge of them, strict orders have been issued by the provost marshal general that no liquor shall be taken on the train and that at the time of reporting tomorrow afternoon they will be under government orders the same as any soldier in uniform and will not be permitted to buy any liquor. It is probable that two of these men who have been ordered to entrain will be exempted on account of physical disqualifications. If this is necessary two men will be substituted.

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN IN PAT SLEIN CASE

Fire and Police Commission Must Produce Written Testimony of Action Before Judge Grimm Can Review Case.

As no written testimony was taken when the fire and police commission decided to oust Pat Slein from the police force for cruelty to prisoners, Judge Grimm has adjourned the case until this morning. He returned all papers in the case to the commission with the order that it take written testimony and return it in the morning. Until this is done, he cannot begin the review of the case.

Testimony was heard this morning in the case of J. J. Dulin vs. G. D. Cullen. It is probable that the plaintiff game will be rolled on April 2nd between the Baptist aggregation and the Christian maple kickers. The same teams which were in the winter tournament in this city are in the line-up in this one. As some of the weaker teams will presumably take some stronger rollers onto their staff. The scheduled teams are Baptist, Christian, Lutheran, Methodist, Episcopal, and St. Paul's.

The schedule is as follows: Baptist and Christian, April 4; Trinity Episcopal and Lutheran, April 5; First Baptist and Carroll Methodists, 5; St. Paul's Lutheran and Presbyterian, 5; Congregational and Baptist, 10; Trinity Episcopal and Christian, 10; St. Paul's, 12; Presbyterian and First Lutheran, 13.

ROUTINE BUSINESS ACTED UPON BY COUNTY BOARD

Routine business was taken up at the meeting of the county board of supervisors today. Only a few minor matters were acted upon at this morning's session, which adjourned at eleven o'clock. A bill of W. R. Hayes for repairs made on the considerable sum was the subject of discussion this afternoon, as it was thought the county was overcharged.

Will Meet: The regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus was held in their hall Thursday evening at eight o'clock. M. G. Jeffris will address the meeting. All members are requested to be present.

Seek Licenses: Applications for marriage licenses have been received from Marvin E. Brandt and Madge A. Williams, both of Edgerton, and Max Grieff, Beloit, and Anna Grabow of Wausau.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION IS PLANNED BY METHODIST WOMEN FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

Tomorrow night the culmination of the membership drive and the second anniversary celebration of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Carroll Methodist church will be marked by a supper at which all members of the society are invited.

The goal of the membership drive was set at one hundred members, which number had been "over the top" splendidly. All members worked hard and enthusiastically and success awarded their efforts. The literary program for the afternoon is in charge of Mrs. George Miller. The second chapter of the textbook "Missionary Milestones" will be given along with current events from the magazine and songs by the children.

Robb have charge of the supper and all members anticipate a profitable and pleasant time.

How It Feels to Commute in the Arctic Circle.

One of the most unusual railroad trips ever timed is an interesting feature of Lyman H. Howe's latest Travel Festival, to be presented at the Myers theatre for two days, Monday, April 8, and Tuesday, April 9.

This trip takes spectators amid the snow-capped peaks of the Yukon country on the government railroad, leading across glaciers and glacier torrents. Built of rude mountain timber, the railroad bed is frequently washed away by freshets. So the trip, which leads into the Arctic circle, has its elements of danger. The

How tourists, nested in their theatre chairs, are, of course, quite safe, although they are given all the symptoms of a daring railroad ride.

The Yukon railroad trip is part of a picturesque and comprehensive tour of Alaska, which is featured on the new Travel Festival program. A journey through China is another head-line attraction, and other interesting subjects are a visit to Coney Island, a thrilling mountain lion hunt in Montana, and hair-raising experiments with Hercules' pillar tractor-tugs in Uncle Sam's army.

MYERS THEATRE

When "The Bird of Paradise" opened its season at the Olympic theatre, Chicago, last summer, the Hawaiian members of the troupe left for various parts of the country, two of them going back to the Hawaiian Islands.

Time for rehearsal came around and two of the Hawaiian singers were missing. This caused Ben Groux, manager of the company, to telegraph Walter Kolomoek, asking the whereabouts of one "Tandy," which brought this cryptic letter:

"Dear Boss: Tandy here in New York. He's all right. Load of mules and ammunition to France. He be back in time for rehearsal, maybe. German submarine! Boom! Groux remarked, 'That "Kanaka" doesn't waste much language, but he sure tells it all. Besides being a great "steel" player, he has a sense of humor for an Hawaiian.'"

"The Bird of Paradise" will be seen at Myers theatre Sunday evening, March 31.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.
TO THE CENSORS.
Let us know about the war, let us share its grief and glory.
We that wait and serve at home have a right to hear its story.
They are our boys over there, 'tis our day that flies above them;
We'll be braver, we'll be truer if you'll tell us something of them.

In dispatches that are nameless is it useful now to smother
All the joy and all the splendor that would cheer some little soldier boy?
If her boys have claimed distinction by some gallant deed of daring,
Let her proudly share the glory of the ribbon he is wearing.

Not by rigid blanks and dashes can we keep the home fires burning.
Though three thousand miles divide us, it is there hearts are turning.
Guard your army secrets closely, but when there's a bit of glory
That would strengthen us for service let the name come with the story.

LIBERTY BONDS WILL PAY LARGER INTEREST

Third Liberty Loan Bonds Will Pay 4 1/2 Per Cent.—Previous Bonds May Be Converted Into Third Loan Bonds.

The first gun in the third Liberty Loan campaign was fired at the Myers Theatre yesterday afternoon and the city is now preparing to do its duty in helping the boys in the trenches.

The third Liberty Loan campaign will officially open on April 6th, the first anniversary of America's entrance into the world war. The loan will be for $3,000,000 and interest will not be convertible. Every effort is being made to make the third loan the greatest success this country has ever had and it will be necessary for the people of Rock County to realize that their liberty is in danger and that they must subscribe to the Liberty Loan if they expect to retain their freedom. It is time to act and citizens must realize that the moment has come and that money as well as men is needed to bring the war to a successful end.

Secretary McAdoo, realizing the tremendous task ahead of the loan workers, is calling into action every body of men and women he can think of. He has again called in the Boy Scouts of America and they are going to help in the coming campaign. The local Boy Scout troops are preparing for the campaign by secretary McAdoo to Mr. Livingston, president of the Boy Scouts of America.

"The Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, March 13, 1918.
"To the Boy Scouts of America:
"Once more you are called into active service. You are asked to organize for an intensive house to house canvass during the last part of the third Liberty Loan campaign for subscriptions which might not otherwise be secured. This is the particular service that has been assigned to the Boy Scouts of America.

To be of patriotic and effective service of the Boy Scouts in your definitely worked out program of war-work activities is a splendid testimonial to the value of organized boyhood in helping our country win the war.

"I have been deeply impressed by the tireless energy and splendid spirit of helpfulness which you have shown in all your past activities, and I sincerely hope and confidently expect that in the third Liberty loan you will surpass all previous records for service to your country.

Sincerely yours,
"W. G. McAdoo."

"Secretary of the Treasury.
President Wilson also realizes the great amount of good that the Boy Scouts accomplished during the past two campaigns and he has written a personal letter to their president asking for their help in the coming campaign. The letter, which is published by the Official Bulletin, follows:

"The White House,
Washington, March 13, 1918.

"My Dear Mr. Livingston: Will you again muster the full strength of the Boy Scouts of America for co-operation with the Treasury Department in securing subscriptions for the third Liberty loan? As in the two previous campaigns, it is desired to have the Boy Scouts of America serve as 'gleans' in a house-to-house canvass after the 'reapers' gleaned during the days set aside for your special campaign.

"The patriotic and effective service of the Boy Scouts in your definitely worked out program of war-work activities is a splendid testimonial to the value of organized boyhood in helping our country win the war.

"It is my earnest wish that every troop of Boy Scouts and every scout and scout official take part in your war-service apathy loan campaigns. Not only is this of practical service to our country in these critical times but it is of great educational value to the boys in preparing them for the responsibilities of citizenship.
Sincerely and cordially yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

ANNUAL CONCERT IS PLANNED FOR SUNDAY

Wisconsin School for the Blind Will Give Easter Concert at Four O'clock in the Afternoon.

The annual Easter Concert of the Wisconsin School for the Blind will be held Sunday, March 31st, in the School Gymnasium at 4:00 p. m. Heretofore it has been the custom to open this entertainment free to the public, but this year it is thought best to charge a small fee of twenty-five cents for each admission. The proceeds will be devoted to the aid of those made blind at Halifax last fall.

Since that awful disaster an appeal has gone out to all of the institutions for the blind in the world for assistance in the care of those who were unfortunately blinded by the shower of glass which resulted from the concussion of the explosion. According to the best records that can be obtained about 500 people were blinded at that time, and the Halifax School for the blind is unable, unassisted, to care for the re-education and rehabilitation of these unfortunate people. The Wisconsin School for the Blind asks that every person interested in this cause either attend the concert or purchase a ticket for the same.

FORD IS THE SELECTED CAR

Selling faster than the Ford Motor Company can build them. I am selling as many as five cars in one day.

This is not as many as will be sold when the rush is on.
My record for last year is 13 Ford sales in one day, some of the 13 had to wait sometime for their car to arrive.

Don't wait for the rush to come before placing your order. There are 11,000 dealers each one selling some cars, if all of the dealers send their orders in at one time, someone will have to wait.

Don't be on the waiting list.

You can get your car within three weeks by ordering now.

Get all of the enjoyment that is coming to you. If you cannot come in, just telephone 55 and my salesman will call to see you—just don't put it off for another day.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

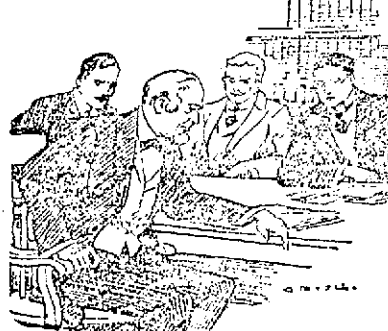

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a dark brown taste, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or puffy face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. The package will tell you. All druggists.

War and Women

We hear much these days of what the women are doing on the battlefield. How few American women are strong enough to go to the front and endure the hardships of the men!

Help is offered, and is freely given to every nervous, delicate woman, by Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Remember ingredients on label. No alcohol. In tablet or liquid form. All druggists. Tablets sell for 50 cents.

In "female complaint," irregularity, or weakness, and in every exhausted condition of the female system, the "Prescription" seldom fails to benefit or cure. Bins, internal inflammation and ulceration, weak back, and kindred ailments are cured by it, ask your neighbor. It's a marvelous remedy for nervous and general debility, insomnia, or sleeplessness.

Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. for confidential advice and you will receive the medical attention of a specialist, wholly without charge whatever. Send 10 cts. for trial package "Favorite Prescription Tablets."

TROY CENTER, Wis.—"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and found it very beneficial. A few years ago I suffered a general break-down. I got very weak and thin—just felt miserable all over. I began taking 'Favorite Prescription,' and in six months I was entirely well, and have not had one of those spells since. I also gave it to my daughter when she was about 16 years old, for general weakness and it brought her out in fine condition. I am a great believer in this medicine and recommend it to women who are ailing." Mrs. G. KENOR.

misappropriated. And we found that note in his safe after his death. That was what first aroused our suspicions. Now, Captain Warren, do you understand?"

Captain Elisha did not understand, that was evident.

"A note?" he repeated. Bije put his note in the safe? A note promising to pay all he'd stole. And left it there where it could be found? Why, that's pretty high unbelievable, Mr. Sylvester! He might just as well have confessed his crookedness and be done with it."

"Yes. It is unbelievable, but it is true. Graves can show you the note."

The junior partner produced a slip of paper from the portfolio and regarded it frowningly.

"Of all the pieces of sheer lunacy," he observed, "that ever came under my observation this is the worst. Here it is, Captain Warren."

He extended the paper. Captain Elisha waved it aside.

"I don't want to see it—not yet," he protested. "I want to think. I want to get at the reason if I can. Why did he do it?"

"That is what we've been tryin' to find—the reason," remarked Kuhn, "and we can only guess. Sylvester has told you the guess. Rodgers Warren intended or hoped to make restitution before he died."

"Yes. Knowin' Bije, I can see that. He was weak, that was his main trouble. He didn't mean to be crooked, but his knees wasn't strong enough to keep him straight when it came to a hard push. But he made his note payable to a company that was already sold out, so it ain't good for nothin'. Now, why?"

Graves struck the table with his open hand.

"He doesn't understand at all!" he exclaimed impatiently. "Captain Warren, listen! That note is made payable to the Akrae company. Against that company some unknown stockholder has an apparent claim for two-fifths of all dividends ever paid and two-fifths of the $750,000 received for the sale. With accrued interest that claim amounts to over $500,000."

"Yes, but—"

"That note binds Rodgers Warren's estate to pay that claim—his own personal estate! And that estate is not worth over $400,000! If this stockholder should appear and press his claim

"At last!" he said solemnly. "At last! Now it's all plain!"

"All?" repeated Sylvester. "You mean?"

"I mean everything, all that's been puzzlin' me and troublein' my head since the very beginning. All of it! Now I know why! Oh, Bije, Bije, Bije!"

Kuhn spoke quickly.

"Captain," he said, "I believe you know who the owner of that 100 shares is. Do you?"

Captain Elisha gravely nodded.

"Yes," he answered, "I know him."

"Who is it?"

The question was blurted out. The captain looked at the three excited faces. He hesitated and then, taking the stub of a pencil from his pocket, drew toward him a memorandum pad lying on the table and wrote a line upon the uppermost sheet. Tearing off the page, he tossed it to Sylvester.

"That's the name," he said.

CHAPTER XV. "What Can It Mean?"

TWO more hours passed before the lawyers and their client rose from their seats about the long table. Even then the consultation was not at an end. Sylvester and the captain lunched together at the Central club and sat in the smoking room until after 4, talking earnestly. When they parted the attorney was grave and troubled.

"All right, Captain Warren," he said; "I'll do it. And you may be right. I certainly hope you are. But I must confess I don't look forward to my task with pleasure. I think I've got the roughest end."

"It'll be rough—there's no doubt about that—rough for all hands, I guess. And I hope you understand, Mr. Sylvester, that there ain't many men I'd trust to do what I ask you to. I appreciate your doin' it more'n I can tell you. Be as—gentle as you can, won't you?"

"I will. You can depend upon that."

"I do. And I shan't forget it. Good-by till the next time."

They shook hands. Captain Elisha returned to the boarding house, where he found a letter awaiting him. It was from Caroline, telling him of her engagement to Malcolm Dunn. She wrote that, while not recognizing his right to interfere in any way, she felt that perhaps he should know of her action. He did not go down to supper and when Pearson came to inquire the reason excused himself, pleading a late luncheon and no appetite. He guessed he would turn in early, so he said. It was a poor guess.

Next morning he went uptown. Edwards, opening the door of the Warren apartment, was surprised to find who had rung the bell.

"Morning, Commodore," hailed the captain, as casually as if he were merely returning from a stroll. "Is Miss Caroline aboard ship?"

"Why—why, I don't know, sir. I'll see."

"That's all right. She's aboard or you wouldn't have to see. You and me sat together quite a spell, so I know your little habits. I'll wait in the library, commodore. Tell her there's no particular hurry."

His niece was expecting him. She had anticipated his visit and was prepared for it. From the emotion caused by his departure after the cheerful birthday she had entirely recovered or thought she had. Stephen's ridicule and Mrs. Corcoran Dunn's congratulations on marriage had stilled the reproaches of her conscience. Mrs. Dunn, as always, played the diplomat and mingled just the proper quantity of comprehending sympathy with the congratulations.

"I understand exactly how you feel, my dear," she said. "You have a tender heart, and it pains you to hurt any one's feeling, no matter how much they deserve to be hurt. You feel that you may have been too harsh with that guardian of yours. You remember what you said to him and forget how hypocritically he behaved toward you. I can't forgive him that. I may forget how he misrepresented Malcolm and me to you—that I may even pardon in time—but to deceive his own brother's children and introduce into their society a creature who had slandered and maligned their father—that I never shall forget or forgive. And—you'll excuse my frankness, dear—you should never forget or forgive it either. You were a brave girl, and if you are not proud of yourself I am proud of you."

So when her uncle was announced Caroline was ready. She entered the library and acknowledged his greeting with a distant bow. He regarded her kindly, but his manner was grave.

"Well, Caroline," he began, "I got your letter."

"Yes, I presumed you did."

"Um-hm. I got it. It didn't surprise me what you wrote, because I'd seen the news in the papers, but I was hopin' you'd tell me yourself, and I'm real glad you did. I'm much obliged to you."

"I—I gave you my reasons for writing," she said. "Although I do not consider that I am in any sense duty-bound to refer matters other than financial to you; and, although my feelings toward you have not changed—still, you are my guardian, and—"

"I understand. So you're really engaged to Mr. Dunn?"

"Yes."

"And you're callin' to marry him?"

"One might almost take that for granted," impatiently.

"Almost, yes. Not always, but generally, I will give in. You're goin' to marry Malcolm Dunn. Why?"

"Why, because I choose, I suppose."

"Um-hm. Are you sure of that?"

"Am I sure?" indignantly. "What do you mean?"

"I mean are you sure that it's because you choose, or because he does, or maybe because his mother does?"

"She turned angrily away. "If you came here to insult me!" she began. He interrupted her.

"No, no!" he protested gently. "Insultin' you is the last thing I want to do. But as your father did put you in my charge, I want you to bear with me while we talk this over together. Remember, Caroline, I ain't bothered you a great deal lately. I shouldn't now if I hadn't thought 'twas necessary. So please don't get mad, but answer me this: Do you care for the man you've promised to marry? Enough to live with him all your life and see him every day and be to him what a true wife ought to be? See him, not with his company manners on or in his automobile, but at the breakfast table and when he comes home tired and cross maybe? When you've got to be forbearin' and forgiving?"

"He is one of my oldest and best friends," she interrupted. Her uncle went on without waiting for her to end the sentence.

"I know," he said. "One of the oldest, that's sure. But friendship, 'ordin' to my notion, is somethin' so small in comparison that it hardly counts in the manifest. Married folks ought to be friends, sure, but they ought to be a whole lot more'n that. I'm an old bach, you say, and ain't had no experience. That's true, but I've been young, and there was a time when I made plans. However, she died, and it never came to nothin'. But I know what it means to be engaged, the right kind of engagement. It means that you don't count yourself at all, not a bit. You're ready, each of you, to give up all you've got—your wishes, comfort, money and what it'll buy and your life, if it should come to that, for that other one. Do you care for Malcolm Dunn like that, Caroline?"

She answered defiantly.

"Yes, I do," she said.

"You do. Well, do you think he feels the same way about you?"

"Yes!" With not quite the same promptness, but still defiantly.

"You feel sartin' of it, do you?"

She stamped her foot. "Yes, yes, yes!" she cried. "Oh, do say what you came to say and end it!"

Her uncle rose to his feet.

"Why, I guess likely I've said it," he observed. "When two people care for each other like that they ought to be married, and the sooner the better. I knew that you'd been lonesome and troubled, maybe, and all I can say is that I'm awfully glad for you. God bless you, my dear! I hope you'll be as happy as the day is long."

His niece gazed at him, bewildered and incredulous. This she had not expected.

"Thank you," she stammered. "I did not know—I thought—"

"Of course you did—of course. Well, then, Caroline, I guess that's all. I won't trouble you any longer. Good-by."

He turned toward the door, but stopped, hesitated and turned back again.

Sales of the Friendly Forest

It was a bright and beautiful sunny morning as Billy Bunny hopped out of the woodpile where he had slept all night and started off on his journey of adventure. He had only gone a little ways when all of a sudden from behind a bush out jumped a big Billy Goat. He had a long goatie and he looked very fierce, and when he lowered his head and pointed his horns at the little rabbit, how do you suppose Billy Bunny felt? Well, he felt just like a piece of paper all crinkled up, he was so scared. And so Billy Bunny, poltically, not wishing to make the Goat feel badly.

Well, by this time the Goat had raised his head and so his sharp horns didn't point at Billy Bunny, which made him feel lots better. Then he opened his knapsack and took out an apple pie and gave it to the Goat, who ate it up in two and a half bites, and then asked for more.

"Sorry, but that's all I have," said the little rabbit. "Would you like a lollipop?" And when that was all gone, the little rabbit brought out a chocolate cake and the Goat ate that up, just as fast.

"What else have you?" asked the Goat, wiping the crumbs from his goatie and pecking over Billy Bunny's shoulder.

"I've got a pair of rubber boots," said the little rabbit. And would you believe it, that Goat ate those rubber boots up too and then asked for more.

"Oh, dear!" Oh, dear!" sighed Billy Bunny, and he hunted all through his knapsack until he found a policeman's whistle. "That's all I've got left, Mr. Billy Goat."

"Well, I'll eat that for dessert," and the hungry, starving Goat commenced to eat that whistle as though he hadn't tasted any kind of food for a year and a half.

"You believe me again?" That whistle began to whistle and this so scared the Billy Goat that he ran away. And if the whistle doesn't keep me awake all night so that I'll have to sleep all day tomorrow I'll tell you in the next story how Billy Bunny went to see his kind Uncle Lucky.

Would Display German Flag

Rond du Lac, March 26.—Because John Fox asserted that he could place a German flag on his residence if he so desired, he was given a bad beating by James Finnegan, during an argument in the heart of the business district. Fox had Finnegan arrested, but the court declared that it could find no man guilty in an assault case provoked by any individual, and it talked favorably concerning the Teuton flag.

General Gibson Says Every Soldier Should Take Nuxated Iron

General John L. Clem, Who Was Sergeant in the U. S. Army at 12 Years of Age, General David Stuart Gordon, Hero of the Battle of Gettysburg, Judge Samuel S. Yoder, for 18 Years a Practicing Physician and Formerly Surgeon Major in the Army, Also Tell How They Were Benefited by a Short Course of This Remarkable Product.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan explains why Nuxated Iron helps to increase strength and endurance. "What every soldier most needs is tremendous 'stay' strength, power and endurance. With nerves of steel and blood of iron, he can produce this result. There is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as this organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Sullivan personally found it of such great value as a tonic, strength and blood builder that I believe if General Gibson's advice were followed many of our fighting men would be home again."

In my opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for enriching the blood and helping increase strength, energy and endurance.

General Horatio Gates Gibson says Nuxated Iron saved him back to his full good measure that old buoyancy and energy that filled him in 1847 when he made his triumphant entry with General Scott into the City of Mexico.

Another remarkable case is that of General David Stuart Gordon, hero of the battle of Gettysburg. General Gordon says: "When I came badly run-down this year, I found myself totally without the physical power to come back as I had done in my younger days. I tried different so-called 'tonics' without getting any better, but finally I heard of how physicians were widely recommending organic iron and blood and rebuild strength in worn-out bodies. As a result I started taking Nuxated Iron and within a month it had aroused my weakened vital forces and made me feel strong again, giving me endurance such as I never hoped to gain before."

Another interesting case is that of General John Lincoln Clem, who at the age of 12 years was Sergeant in the U. S. Army and the last victor of the Civil War to remain on the U. S. Army active list. General Clem says: "I find iron tonic the most reliable tonic. Two months after beginning the treatment I am a well man."

Dr. E. Sauter, a Boston Physician who has studied both in this country and great European medical institutions said: "Nuxated Iron is a wonderful remedy. If people would only take it when they feel weak or run-down instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages I am convinced that there are thousands who might readily build up their tired blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy, and get themselves into a condition to ward off the million disease germs that are almost continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. You are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained."

Dr. DeWitt C. Jacques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out so much medical information as I do for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance should take Nuxated Iron and get a wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron which is prescribed by Dr. Sullivan and which has been used by Generals Gibson, Gordon, Clem, Judge Yoder and others with such surprising results, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older thoracic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the stomach, the manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser, or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

General John L. Clem, U. S. A. (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh who entered the army at the age of 12 years. He was promoted to be Surgeon Major in the Army at the battle of Gettysburg when only 12 years old. He says that Nuxated Iron was the one and ever-reliable tonic that he obtained most surprising results from its use in two weeks' time.

General David Stuart Gordon, U. S. A. (Retired), promoted for gallant conduct in the battle of Gettysburg, well-known Indian fighter. General Gordon says: "Despite my own advanced age, Nuxated Iron has made me fit and ready for any other campaign, and if my country needs me, I stand ready to go."

Judge Samuel S. Yoder, Statesman, Jurist and for 18 years a practicing physician—formerly Surgeon Major in the Army and now Commander in Chief of the Union Veterans Association, says: "Nuxated Iron restores vitality and rebuilds the system. To the man of 70 as I am it is just as certain, just as efficacious as to the man in his teens."

The Above is Dr. Sullivan's prescription for enriching the blood and helping to make strong, red-blooded Americans—men and women who dare and do.

LEO LENNARTZ WRITES FROM CAMP SHERIDAN

Janesville Boy Now Member of Ordinance Department, Tells of Camp Life in Southern Training Camp.

Leo Lennartz, son of William Lennartz, South Franklin street, who enlisted in the Ordinance Department in this city early last fall, has written a very interesting letter to a friend in this city. He describes the camp life at Camp Sheridan.

Private Lennartz is well known in this city and his many friends will be glad to know that he is enjoying life in the camp.

Constable William Dulin, who received the letter, is at the present time making a hunt to send the local boys who are located at Camp Sheridan, some tobacco. This letter follows:

Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala., March 22nd, 1918.

Dear Friend Bill:

I have a half day off duty so will write you a few lines and tell you about my trip to the south. One hundred of us left camp (Grant) at 10 a. m., March 2nd, and arrived here at Camp Sheridan at nine a. m. March 3rd. There were two train loads, each in carrying five hundred men, and a car on both trains was a Pullman. It was a hardy trip but we would have enjoyed it much more if we could have got off at the stations here. We were off the train twice during the entire trip, once at Martin, Tenn., and again at Decatur, Ala. At each place we took a hike for an hour and a half and had a half hour's physical exercise.

This country down here is not near as up-to-date as the north. The buildings are mostly all dirty little one and two story places and look like they have been standing for a hundred years. The Red Cross ladies met us at the station at Chicago, Martin, Tenn., Fulton, Kentucky, and Decatur, Ala., and gave us fruit and cigarettes and post cards. The weather is fine here, from 75 to 90 in the shade every day since we have been here, but the nights are real cool and damp.

This is a pretty camp, especially at night when the thousands of tents are lit up. We can go to town every night if we want to, but we don't take advantage of that as it costs too much money. We are expecting to move to Camp Hancock, Ga., about the middle of next month. We like the camp a great deal better than Camp Sheridan and we were tickled to get out of there.

The Y. M. C. A. is a great organization for the soldiers. They furnish us with books, writing paper and envelopes and have entertainment every evening such as movies, boxing, singing and music. I have seen several cotton fields and fields of green onions and radishes ready to eat. The captain told us last night that we would be in France before the first of June. Tell all the boys to write. With best regards, I remain,

LEO LENNARTZ.

Moving time will soon be here. If you have a vacant house or flat let the people know about it through the classified ads.

Loyalty Meeting This Evening.

Evansville, March 27.—This evening at Magoo's opera house the Hon. Burt Williams will address the people of Evansville and vicinity on "Loyalty and Patriotism." In behalf of Joseph E. Davies, candidate for United States senator. This meeting promises to be a very good one, as Mr. Williams is an interesting speaker. Our federal representative, Alex. Richardson, postmaster, has the affair in charge, and Evansville will, as ever, show its loyalty by filling the opera house to hear Mr. Williams.

Milk Producers Meet.

Meetings under the auspices of the Milk Producers' association were held at Magoo's opera house yesterday afternoon and evening and good sized audiences were present for each occasion. The afternoon meeting was devoted to the election of officers and the address given by W. J. Kittle of Crystal Lake, Ill. The following officers were elected: President, Robert Spencer; secretary, Leo Campbell; treasurer, Bert Lutz.

At the evening meeting addresses were given by A. H. Sholtz of Oregon, and Marion Ames of Brooklyn, and were much enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Burr sang songs. A male quartet and a girls' trio consisting of the Misses Ethel Knapp, Lottie and Ethel Johnson also sang. The program was a very enjoyable one.

Many Garments Donated.

Mrs. V. C. Holmes, who has charge of the collection of used articles of clothing for relief of the people of Belgium and France in response to the call issued by the National Red Cross, reports a very generous response from people of Evansville and vicinity. More than five hundred garments were brought in, and all in excellent condition for shipping. Many pairs of shoes were also given. As the time has been extended for one week, all people who have articles of clothing, are asked to donate them. for the call is urgent, and the need great. The receiving station, the store formerly occupied by Hansen and Curless, is open, and all donations may be taken there. Everything is being boxed and crated ready for shipment to Janesville.

Convention of Women's Clubs.

The sixteenth annual convention of the First District Federation of Women's Clubs will convene in Racine, April 23 and 24. The convention will meet in the First Methodist Church in that city.
